So much of our team's efforts have been focused on making decisions on décor and working with our construction partners that it's been tough to find time to share the progress. The good news is that the plastic barrier has officially come down and you can see into the space!

Solarium

Standing in the solarium, you can feel and enjoy the sun. It is a stunning space. In the upcoming weeks we'll be able to show the walls, ceilings and the finishing of that amazing double-sided fireplace. Stay tuned!

Dining Space/Display Kitchen

The space is almost ready; flooring and wall coverings are all in and tile just went up inside the display kitchen. It'll be a huge pop of color and really bring vibrancy into the space. The two colors help us designate the meat and the dairy portions of the space.

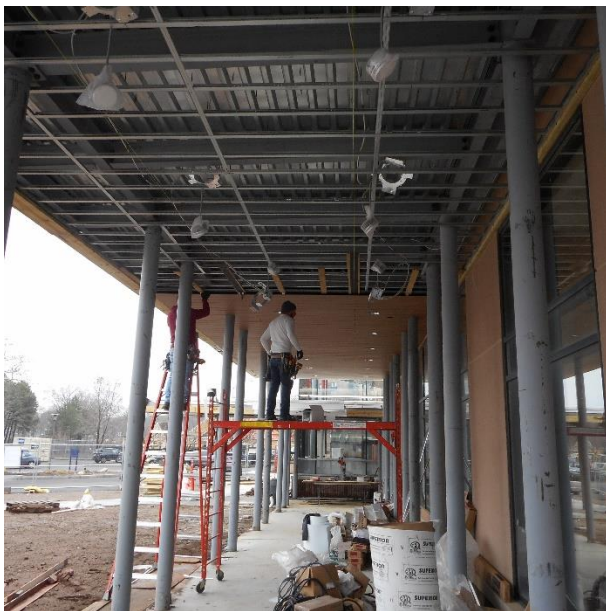

In the main dining space the fireplace is receiving it's stone and metal covering. We can't wait for residents to be able to enjoy the warmth of the lounge space and also enjoy the ambiance of the color changing dining room space.

Outside the dining room there has been a lot of work; that space is being outfitted with metal ceiling tiles and exterior lighting (and some additional cameras). Once finished, this space will allow us to offer exterior dining and a place for staff and residents to enjoy the breeze coming off the sound.

This roof will also help knock down some of the sunlight for the early afternoon dining patrons. This was noted as one of the concerns during the initial town hall meetings about the renovations.

Take a look at those 18" flames!

CONSTRUCTION UPDATES

The furniture will be put in its final place and the other fixtures will be finalized, including an absolutely stunning Aron Kodesh for our dining room. Words don't describe the level of artisan carpentry you'll see. We are so grateful for the donations that made this possible!

Work on the solarium will also continue and you'll start to see more and more of the spaces open for use (once we get the rest of the wiring done).

Outside you'll also start to see sitework for our community garden.

It's going to be a great spring and wonderful things are on the horizon!
